

"52 Days"

~~1-3-12~~
1-3-12

June 10th 2010 is the second most important day of my life, next to my son being born.

That was the day that one single bad situation broke me to my core and made me realize who I was becoming! Not pointing blame at anyone, but accepting my responsibility for what part I had growing and learning from that day as in the 52 days of this class has forced me to dissect the events that took place. This course has also taught me healthy steps to take in the unlikely event it would ever happen again. It has built me into a better man, father, son and friend.

~~Regardless~~ Regardless if my ex ever decides to make changes herself and learns anything from that day I can honestly say I've learned a tremendous amount from the class I'll use for the rest of my life! I now know what I truly deserve for my life and in a future wife.

As for my future, I always know and remember the bonds made in this class. We all started as strangers and have become closer through the hurt we've shared during class discussions. The tears and laughter has proven that we're all human and make mistakes, we've all been hurt by someone that we care about or at one time did. Don't let this class harden you to healing. TAKE THIS 52 days to heal, become totally broken and emotionally naked. After your 52 is up, is the first day ~~back~~ back from repairing your life.

Start it back completely healed!